4. PROGRAMME CONTENT BY AREAS

The program content is divided into areas that are fully coordinated. The areas that comprise the educational structure of the Academia Sánchez-Casal are as follows:

TECHNICAL AREA

The technical program usually consists of 3 hours of on-court training each day. Every student has a technical tutor in charge of his or her personalized program. Daily work is carried out by Academy coaches, all of whom possess high professional qualifications.

All of the tactical aspects of tennis are covered: shot technique, on-court position, competitive tactics, pace, etc. The Academy has implemented its own training method based on the long and successful experience of its own professionals. It consists of a timed distribution of technical contents offered in various stages that are spread over the year.

Students are divided into groups by level with the aim of reaching technical objectives on a group and individual basis.

PHYSICAL TRAINING AREA

The physical training program is usually carried out with 1 hour devoted to specific training each day. Students carry out their physical training program in groups while aiming to obtain objectives on a group and/or individual basis.

Most of the exercises carried out have been specifically created for the sport of tennis. They have also been conceived to maximize the physical strength required by this sport and to prevent possible related injuries.

COMPETITION PROGRAM

The competition programs are established by groups and according to the players' level. It is considered essential that each student have access to a competition program within the Academy system. This is considered the most effective way to consolidate growth in playing proficiency.

The competition program is coordinated with the High School academic calendar and, if necessary, it is also adapted to the educational program.

SPORTS MEDICINE and PHYSIOTHERAPY

Each student's physical and technical training is coordinated with the medical condition of the student. The Academy offers a permanent physiotherapist service where students can receive preventive treatments, such as injury recovery, under the direct supervision of the medical team.

SPORTS PSYCHOLOGY

The Academy has a sports psychologist who works directly with the students. The areas covered encompass from training motivation to mental techniques during competition. In this aspect, the student's emotional status, as well as his/her personal and family circumstances, are taken into consideration.

VIDEO ANALYSIS

Coaches and tutors use student video analysis as part of the training program. This system not only provides the opportunity to technically correct the student's game but also to work on the tactical aspects of competition.

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAM

The Academia Sánchez-Casal, in conjunction with Schiller International School, offers players who aim to become tennis professionals the possibility of completing an American high school program on campus. The high school program is offered in a format that makes it fully compatible with a student's sport training without undermining academic quality.

The program requires students to complete the Senior Year, or twelfth grade, of the American secondary education system in order to graduate. To make it compatible with tennis, the final school and sports training schedule depend on the grade level of the student and his or her tennis level. Extracurricular activities are organized on a regular basis during the school year. Schiller International School is a legal affiliate of Schiller International University, a private American university with headquarters in Largo, Florida (USA).

Students who earn a high school diploma at Schiller International School are eligible to enroll in any American college or university. The Academy will manage sports and academic scholarship applications for students with sufficient academic and tennis skills. Currently, 100 percent of our scholarship applications have been granted.

5. LANGUAGE PROGRAM (Optional)

The Language Program offers the possibility of combining weekly, monthly and annual tennis programs with Spanish or English as a Foreign Language (EFL) courses at the same location of the Academia Sánchez-Casal. The language program is perfectly designed for athletes wishing to train in their favorite sport at the Academy while learning Spanish or English. We involve students in a process of linguistic communication and intensive practice of the four basic elements of language education: oral, comprehension, written and reading proficiency. Classes begin every Monday.

6. GENERAL STANDARDS TO BE FOLLOWED BY STUDENTS

The program includes training in the following areas:

- Nutrition
- Code of conduct
- Work discipline
- Effort & progress

7. TRAVEL TO COMPETITIONS

Each student's personalised competition program is usually carried out within the framework of his/her level, which also corresponds to his/her technical evolution.

The program considers the need to travel to competitions. In such cases, the Academy will provide a coach who will be responsible for the trip. The student must cover all of the travel, room and board expenses arising from said trip, not only for him or herself but also for the accompanying coach.

Before each competition, the coach responsible for the trip will prepare an approximate budget of the expenses to be incurred. The student must pay the amount budgeted to the coach in advance. The final settlement is made upon conclusion of the competition. If several players participate in such an expedition, the coach's expenses will be divided proportionately.

8. MEDICAL INSURANCE

Once the registration is formalized, the Academia Sánchez-Casal will offer, upon previous request, a medical insurance policy.

The specific coverage of the Policy is described in the policy subscription contract to be signed by the insurer and the student. (or parent or legal guardian if under 18)
